Message from the Organizing Committee

Ms. Flora LAI
Co-Chairperson, Organizing Committee

"Time flies.... HKIP has encountered 30 years of ups and downs of Hong Kong. With all people’s effort, we have been achieving escalating economic growth and generous living standard despite some hiccups in past years. In view of meeting society’s aspiration for better living quality and active participation in all kinds of planning issues, planners have to be well equipped to meet all these challenges and wishes. Nowadays, to plan for low carbon cities being hand in hand with the prosperous economy for high quality of life is a common goal for all. We sincerely hope that by organizing the present Conference, we not only would have a highlighted event for joyful celebration, but also could facilitate sharing of experience for all planning professionals in striving for a greener future together!"

“What can be done in 30 years?
~ An infant raised into adulthood.
~ China’s urbanization rate jumps double from 20% to 45%.
~ Hong Kong grows from trading port into international financial centre, with the most dazzling cityscape in the world.

So where do we go from here?
It is the critical question this Conference focuses on. We believe the answer is planning for low carbon cities.

We eagerly anticipate a thought-provoking exchange of knowledge and passion in this forum."

Vote of Thanks:

We would like to thank the Urban Planning Society of China for our co-operation again in co-organizing this Conference. This extends our close relationship and strong desire to work together for better planning of our living region. Vote of thanks to the Royal Town Planning Institute and the Macao Urban Planning Institute for their sincere support as the Partner Organizations of the Conference.

Special thanks to our honorary advisor, Mr. Stanley Yip, for his generous assistance on providing guidance in advising the themes of the Conference and inviting speakers. Our heartfelt thanks to the Technical Committee, who have paid tremendous efforts in vetting all submitted papers. Generous support from all sponsors and supporting organizations are highly appreciated.

All in all, we would like to dedicate our sincere thanks to the organizing committee for their time and effort in shaping the Conference. Without their unconditional contributions, the Conference would not occur. Of course, it is ultimately your participation that makes this Conference successful!

Let’s continue to devote generous support to the HKIP 30th Anniversary activities!!! Thank you!!!
